The Electoral Registration Officer makes and keeps two versions of the electoral register - the full register and the edited register. The full register lists everyone who is entitled to vote and includes their address. You can check it by calling at the council offices. Only certain people and organisations can have copies of the full register, and they can only use it for specified purposes. The main use of the full register is for elections and referendums, but it can also be used for other purposes such as the prevention and detection of crime and for checking your identity when you have applied for credit. Details of others who can have copies of the full register and what they can use it for are given in the Representation of the People (England and Wales) (Amendment) Regulations 2002 (SI 2002 No.1871). It is a criminal offence not to comply with the regulations. For example, it is a criminal offence either to pass the full register on to anyone or to use it for any purpose, except as allowed by the regulations. These regulations are available on the internet at www.legislation.hms.gov.uk/stat.htm or you can buy a copy from The Stationery Office Ltd. The edited register leaves out the names and addresses of people who have asked for them to be excluded from that version of the register. The edited register can be bought by anyone who asks for a copy and they may use it for any purpose.

If you would like a Postal Vote for all future elections an application form can be sent to your current address if you put a ✓ in the Postal Vote box opposite your name. For all other absent votes please contact the Electoral Registration Officer

All persons listed MUST SIGN opposite his or her name. Anyone who does not sign opposite his or her name cannot be added to the Register.

In accordance with the Representation of the People Acts, any application to be registered as an elector is subject to public inspection to allow for objection to the application to be made. At the end of this period of public inspection (if no objection has been received) the applicant may be added to the Register of Electors at the beginning of each month.

Please note that in the "run-up" to an Election you will only be able to vote at that Election if your name has been added to the Register of Electors before the last day for delivery of Nomination Papers for the Election.
